M'CARN MATTER

templed, all of which would be filed and ready for argument Saturday morning. McCarn was present in court but took no part in the argument. He sat with members of his counsel. The proceedings this morning ended when the court agreed to give the extension of time. A score or more persons were present, a few of whom were a part of the curious crowd that filled the police court when the hearing was started there.

"If the court please," began Attorney Humphreys, in asking for the extension, "this matter was set for today. However, I wish to ask that it be continued until Saturday morning. I ordered certified copies of the papers in this case, but Saturday, being a half holiday, I did not get them until late, and consequently have not had time to prepare the three pleas and one motion we expect to make."

Attorney Andrews remarked: "It seems to me that since this is the last month of jury trial that counsel's request is excessive. He surely will have plenty of time before Saturday to prepare the motions; that will not take long."

"We wish to prepare this case carefully and scientifically," replied Attorney Humphreys. "There is a ques-

HOW TAX-PAYERS' MONEY GOES OUT FOR ROAD-WORK

Total lineal feet of road constructed, 1,920.
Total cost for labor for 1,920 feet, $2,188.97.
Average cost for labor per lineal foot, $1.14.
Under Whitehouse—Feb. 16 to Mar. 7, 1914:
Total lineal feet of road constructed, 2,580.
Total cost for labor for 2,580 feet, $860.41.
Average cost for labor per lineal foot, $0.333.
Speaking of this striking difference, Mr. Whitehouse said:
"Kennedy began the job with 14 men, by the end of January he had 35, and by the middle of February, 51. At the same time he had the same amount of equipment—one dump cart, two wagons and one roller. When I took over the work after February 14, I cut down the men to an average of 26, which was the right number to handle the equipment on hand. "I put a stop to the practice of some of the officials sending a laborer with a note to the luna, directing him to put the man to work. Recently, I understand, this practice has been recommenced. As long as it continues there will be no such thing as economy in the road department, nor a free handed engineer."
Where Efficiency Is Lost
"The cost of road work is mainly in the labor. The implements and materials are comparatively of little cost. If the supervisors and the men are going to send a bunch of men every day to the luna, ordering that they be put to work, you can see what kind of efficiency we will have. For, however, many men are on a job, the equipment is the same, which means that usually all laborers over a certain number are dead losses to the city and county."

KNOWLEDGE NOT ONE OF REQUIREMENTS OF SOFT WASHINGTON JOB

The treat that was on Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, a short time ago for a little geographical carelessness in addressing an official letter to "Honolulu, Philippine Islands," is now on some one over in the treasurer's office at Washington.

Secretary of Territory W. W. Thayer has received a communication from that department addressed to the Republic of Hawaii. Whether this title of government is in respect to the "cession resolution," of a year ago, or is a mere slip, with nothing formidable or significant about it, may be judged individually; but at the territorial capitol it is set down emphatically that some one in the national treasurer's office should be made to purchase.

"HONOLULU DAY" AT AD CLUB'S WEEKLY MEETING TOMORROW

"Honolulu Day" will be observed by the members of the Honolulu Ad Club at their meeting for luncheon at the Young hotel at noon tomorrow, and a program of unusual interest has been prepared for the occasion. Major W. P. Wooten will speak on the "History of the Kailua Channel Project Up-to-Date," and there also will be present representatives of the various land owners, government, board of harbor commissioners, and the people. The musical end of the program will be furnished by Prof. L. A. De Gracia's trio. The Ad Club's membership campaign is now on, and it is the idea of the organization to have the list of members number 1000 by June 30.

tion of jurisdiction involved. There is a supreme court decision in the territory that would possibly warrant the court in holding it has jurisdiction but another point arises, which is that the attorney-general of the United States has assumed another opinion. He has delivered the prosecution into the hands of the federal court. We wish to set these points out clearly."

"If the court please," observed Attorney Andrews, "there is nothing to criticize in my suggestion. An extension of a week is rather a long time to ask for a plea to jurisdiction. And then, again, the opinion of the attorney-general is not conclusive on this court."

The judge interposed:
"I have no official knowledge that the attorney-general has done anything in this matter."

Attorney Humphreys replied:
"The court is charged with the knowledge that a citizen of this territory has been appointed by the attorney-general to investigate this matter. If we were making this request only for delay, and wished only for delay, the court knows we could delay it for a year and a half by simply getting a writ of prohibition from the territorial supreme court and appealing by writ of error from its decision to the United States supreme court."

The argument ended here by the court granting the request.

DISHONORABLE DISCHARGE MAY BE SUSPENDED

The new army appropriation bill contains some interesting features in regard to the time to be made up by enlisted men before they can receive discharges. Heretofore only absence without leave has been added to the enlistment period, but, according to the provisions of the new measure, all time spent in the guard house, which results in a conviction, and all time spent in the hospital, for illness due to the soldier's own misconduct, will have to be made up.

This is a radical departure from established custom, but it is thought by army men to be a wise provision.

Another important change is in the giving of dishonorable discharges. These can now be held in abeyance by the commanding general of the department, and may become operative at any time he sees fit. For instance, if a court martial fixes sentence at six months' imprisonment and dishonorable discharge, and the man's record, or further evidence in the case, shows that he is still a desirable man for the service, the unexpired portion of his term may be remitted, and the soldier automatically returned to duty. Heretofore it has been necessary for him to get special permission to re-enlist, and the discharge has been a perpetual blot on his record. This is one of the most important changes of recent years, from the standpoint of the enlisted man.

No Officer Tried.
If the Hawaiian Department can go another 15 days without bringing an officer to trial, the department will have set a record never before equaled in any department of the United States Army. For eleven and a half months of the present fiscal year there has been no officer court-martialed on any charge whatsoever, and so far as is known, this is a new record for the army. It speaks highly for the punctilious observance of all regulations by the officers of the Hawaiian Department, for it is not always for a serious offense that charges are brought against a commissioned officer and officers courts are by no means uncommon.

Colonel Wm. A. Shunk, cavalry, and Mrs. Shunk, are Manila-bound passengers on the Logan, the colonel being in command of troops on board. Col. and Mrs. Shunk are old friends of Maj. Jorgensen, and visited the department commander during their stay in port.

Captain F. H. Foucar, medical corps, has reported for duty in the Hawaiian Department and will be stationed at the department hospital, where he will have charge of the new laboratory. Captain Foucar has been specializing in this work in Washington, and was slated for the duty before arriving in Hawaii.

TWO WAYS OUT SUGGESTED FOR HIDALGO COURSE

Attorney Henry Holmes presented two alternative plans of reorganization of the Hidalgo and Zacutipa properties in Mexico to the meeting of shareholders this afternoon at the board room of the Bishop Trust Company.

One plan was to put up the money to permit foreclosure and reorganize in three divisions, to represent the different properties. Certificates should be issued on partial payment of the amounts they represented.

There was an attendance of about 30, including several ladies.

Mr. Ewart called the meeting to order, stating the purpose of the meeting. It was to hear reports of what had been done since the previous meeting, including the correspondence and to decide what further should be done. Paul Isenberg presented a report of the finance committee showing that 1475 shareholders had paid the assessment of one dollar each for preliminary expenses, of which $432.83 had been spent in cablegrams, etc., leaving a balance of $1042.17. Nine hundred shareholders had not been heard from. He hoped that others would respond.

Chairman Ewart stated that it had been found impossible to send a man to Mexico, because there was not enough money in sight to send with him to do any good.

"What we really want is time," the chairman continued. "Time to raise money, and time to negotiate. Most of the larger shareholders are indifferent. Even $5 a share from the smaller shareholders would not meet the demands of interest."

"It will take $47.20 from each shareholder to save the rubber alone, $124 to pay all three mortgages and $157 to meet the entire demands."

Henry Holmes, attorney, then submitted two plans of reorganization to choose between.

The investigating committee consisting of George R. Ewart, chairman, George Rodick, J. Morton Riggs, John Macaulay and R. C. Stackable, in its report submitted the telegraphic correspondence that had taken place since the communications, the substance of which had already been published.

In answer to the proposal of the "Honolulu plan," the Hidalgo management cabled that it was "impracticable," and that if the money demanded before the end of this month was not forthcoming the property could not be saved from foreclosure.

With regard to raising the money demanded—which amounts to $255,000 of which $210,000 is to rescue the rubber properties—the committee reported that the larger shareholders were disinclined to put up anything at present, and it would be hopeless to expect the smaller holders, although numerically much in the majority, to raise the amount required.

WOMAN AIDS HUSBAND IN JAIL ESCAPE?

fies the combined police and detective departments in discovering his whereabouts.

Ritchie was a favored prisoner, is the declaration made today. He was assigned an apartment on the top floor of the jail building and one adjoining that occupied by guards and attendants. A door that barred the entrance was held by a very ordinary variety of lock. Iron bars covered a rear window of the room rather than a cell. An examination of the lock this morning revealed the fact that it could be readily opened with a small sharp instrument or a skeleton key.

That Ritchie made his escape about midnight is borne out by the story related by a stevedore who visited Captain of Detectives McDuffie today, who declared that between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning he noted the strange actions of a rather short and thickset man who entered Pied 1 and was last seen going aboard the United States army transport Logan. The man is alleged to have left several women companions behind while some distance from the wharf.

Following this clue, McDuffie dispatched a number of detectives to the troopship. The vessel was given a thorough search. With the assistance of army and transport officials, all enlisted men and civilian passengers were mustered. While these were assembled on the deck, the local police visited every portion of the Logan. Ritchie was not located.

Was to Leave in Wilhelmnia.
Detective Sergeant McNamee, who arrived from Seattle on last Tuesday, armed with extradition papers from the governor of Washington, had planned to depart for the north Pacific coast in company with Ritchie and De Penter in the Matson Navigation steamer Wilhelmnia, scheduled to sail on next Wednesday morning.

The latter's wife has been making for more than a week, possibly ended today when Judge Robinson, at the suggestion of the parents, ordered the child to be placed in the Castle Home or in the Convent of the Sacred Hearts. The parties left court to carry out this order.

They are to report back to court tomorrow and inform the court if a satisfactory arrangement has been made for the care of the child.

ing. McNamee immediately took up the hunt for the prisoner today.

He states that there are a number of charges filed against the men by business firms on the coast. It is stated that Ritchie and De Penter were partners. Their capture in this city by Captain McDuffie followed a lengthy cable from Seattle authorities.

Investigation revealed that De Penter had shipped the goods to Vancouver, B. C., and with Ritchie, embarked for Honolulu. Numbers on the bed and mattresses which De Penter appropriated and on a photograph which Ritchie is alleged to have secured from the Ellers Music House at Seattle by a bad check, insure the correct identification of the two men.

Ritchie for a short time conducted a tailoring shop on the fifth floor of the Northern Bank building at Seattle and after collecting hundreds of first and second payments on suits ordered by customers, it is charged, he vanished.

Ritchie Gets Tuxedo Suit.
Among those whom Ritchie is said to have defrauded was W. H. Middleton, a tailor, of 523 Third avenue of that city. Ritchie, says Mr. Middleton, came to his place some weeks ago and put in a rush order for a tuxedo suit. The customer laid particular stress on the fact that the suit must be light. When Ritchie called for the garment he handed Mr. Middleton a check for $65.

Much Property Shipped Here.
Following the arrival of Ritchie and De Penter and their families at Honolulu were received household goods and merchandise valued at $3,500. The property is now stored at a territorial wharf awaiting its return to the coast.

Mrs. Ritchie and family and Mrs. De Penter have been making their home at the Oakland house during the latter part of their stay in this city.

A federal customs guard has informed the police that a woman believed to have been Mrs. Ritchie, accompanied by two children, visited the naval wharf on Saturday night and made pertinent inquiry regarding the time of arrival of the United States army transport Logan. Officer McNamee stated this morning that he was prepared to remain in this city for a month at least, in carrying out an attempt to recapture his prisoner.
